

We have the pleasure of inviting you to the XIIIth Annual Conference of the Central and Eastern European Network of Jurisprudence (CEENJ) entitled "Jurisprudence in Central and Eastern Europe: Work in Progress 2018" (conference website: <https://ceenjzagreb2018.wordpress.com>).

The Conference will be held at the Faculty of Law, University of Zagreb, Zagreb, Croatia, on 13 (Thursday) and 14 September (Friday) 2018. The schedule can accommodate 32 participants. —

Contributions to the whole gamut of jurisprudential issues, from legal philosophy and analytical legal theory to social theories of law, are welcome. Dogmatic (doctrinal) and empirical (historical, sociological, economic, etc.) studies of law with a strong conceptual content are also acceptable.

Since 2005 the CEENJ has been held at the university centres of Pécs (Hungary), Osijek (Croatia), Graz (Austria), Rijeka (Croatia), Maribor (Slovenia), Belgrade (Serbia), Sarajevo (Bosnia and Herzegovina), Skopje/Ohrid (Macedonia), Lodz (Poland), Brno (Czech Republic), Vilnius (Lithuania) and Riga (Latvia). Several dozen scholars from the Adriatic-Baltic-Black Sea area – as well as some coming from further afield – took part in the gatherings. The 2018 CEENJ Conference will also be open to participants working and/or residing outside the Adriatic-Baltic-Black Sea area.

Conference applications must be submitted by e-mail to both convenors, i.e., Luka Burazin, (lburazin@pravo.hr) and Mario Krešić (mario.kresic@pravo.hr). In addition to the applicant's name, affiliation and e-mail address, a valid application includes a summary of the intended presentation comprising 3,600 characters with spaces. The application deadline is 1 June 2018.

Active Zagreb CEENJ Conference participants will be selected on the basis of their applications by the CEENJ International Advisory Board which at present includes: Damir Banović (Sarajevo), Jolanta Bieliauskaitė (Vilnius), Jasminka Hasanbegović (Belgrade), Tatiana Machalova (Brno), Ivan Padjen (Rijeka/Zagreb), Marijan Pavčnik (Ljubljana), Janis Pleps (Riga), Ivana Tucak (Osijek), Bartosz Wojciechowski (Lodz) and convenors Luka Burazin and Mario Krešić (both from Zagreb).

Conference participants are to cover all their travel and accommodation expenses. The Faculty of Law of the University of Zagreb will provide all participants with lunch and dinner on Thursday and Friday.

We are very much looking forward to seeing you in Zagreb.

Kind regards,

Luka Burazin and Mario Krešić

Convenors of the 2018 CEENJ Conference in Zagreb